Mr. Alvin E. Rickers, Director
Bureau of Air Quality
State of Utah
Division of Health
150 West North Temple
Salt Lake City, Utah 84111

Dear Mr. Rickers:

Intermountain Power Project (IPP)
Notice of Intent to Construct

Pursuant to Section 1.6, Air Conservation Regulations, Utah State Board of Health, a Notice of Intent to Construct the Intermountain Power Project at the Lynndyl Site is hereby submitted. The generating plant is proposed to be constructed at a site located approximately 11 miles west of Lynndyl and 11 miles north-northwest of Delta in Millard County, Utah, as shown on the enclosed Figures AL4 and AL5.

Three copies of the "Calculated Air Quality Impact of the Emissions from the Proposed IPP Power Plant at the Lynndyl Site" report will be transmitted to you under separate cover by the H. E. Cramer Co., air quality consultant to IPP.

Three copies of Volume I through V of the IPP Preliminary Engineering and Feasibility Study Report were previously submitted to you in February 1977, as part of the IPP application for the Project at the Salt Wash Site in Wayne County, Utah. Volume II, Generating Station, and sections of Volume V, Environmental Assessment, not addressing air quality or air quality impacts, are generally applicable to the Project at the Lynndyl Site.
